Dear Pension Manager

GAD Tables : Inadvertent Error

In checking and bringing up to date actuarial factors required for the new scheme GAD came across an error in one of their earlier factor tables going back two years.

The number of case where this may have caused you to make an underpayment is fairly limited since it only applies to women who both retire on grounds of ill-health and who also have a scheme pays tax debit or a pension sharing debit to be completed at point pension comes into payment.

The attached GAD note now provides corrected details and explains how correction should be made.

Although there should not be many cases GAD has apologised for this error and the limited corrective problems this will now cause.

Yours faithfully
